Discover Athens on a 3-day self-guided short break designed for travelers who want to combine history, culture, walking, and Greek cuisine. This easy city-based itinerary includes time to explore the Acropolis, Plaka, the Ancient Agora, and Athens' lively neighborhoods, plus a self-guided 7 km walking and food experience through the historic center.

Athens is often described as the oldest city in Europe, and few places make history feel so alive. As you stroll through the city, you'll discover layers of Ancient, Roman, Byzantine and modern history woven into everyday life. Pleasant pedestrian walkways and green parks connect some of the city's most iconic landmarks, including the Acropolis, the Acropolis Museum and the Pnyx, widely considered the birthplace of democracy.

This short break offers a fascinating journey through thousands of years of history and culture, while still leaving plenty of time to enjoy Athens' lively cafés, neighbourhoods and atmosphere. It is also the perfect addition to one of our walking holidays in Greece, whether you choose to explore the city before setting off for the islands or as a memorable finale to your trip.

Route

Day 1 Arrival in Athens

Upon arrival at Athens Airport, meet your driver for a private transfer to the city center. After checking in, explore the historic heart of Athens at your own pace, wander through the Plaka district, admire sunset views of the Acropolis, and enjoy your first evening in one of Europe's most atmospheric capitals.

Day 2 Walk & dine in Athens, 7 km

Self-guided walking and food experience – approximately 7 km

Discover Athens through its history, flavours and vibrant neighbourhoods on this self-guided Hike & Bite experience. Starting from Syntagma Square, you'll first encounter the famous Evzones before strolling through the National Gardens towards the Panathenaic Stadium (Kallimarmaro), where an audio tour introduces you to its fascinating history, including access to its hidden underground areas.

From here, the route continues past the Temple of Olympian Zeus before your first culinary stop: a rooftop restaurant with spectacular views of both the Acropolis and the ancient temple below, where you'll enjoy a cold starter.

The walk then follows the slopes of the Acropolis, passing the Theatre of Dionysus and the Acropolis Museum before ascending to the Sacred Rock itself, one of the most iconic archaeological sites in the world.

Descending into the atmospheric streets of Plaka, you'll stop at a traditional Greek taverna for a selection of warm starters before continuing past the Roman and Ancient Agora, exploring some of the oldest parts of the city.

Your main course awaits in the lively Thissio district, followed by a final short walk via Kerameikos to your dessert stop. The experience concludes in one of Athens' most enjoyable neighbourhoods, full of cafés, bars and terraces where you may wish to linger into the evening. Your hotel is conveniently located within walking distance of the final stop.

Allow approximately 7 hours to fully enjoy the experience, including sightseeing, food stops and time to soak up the atmosphere of the city.
